Reading and writing

3. - Read the text and write A (right), B (wrong) or C (doesn't say):

Wing walking is the art of moving on the wings of an airplane during flight. It started in air shows during the 1920s. There are many ways to do it. One of them is having the person on the wings sitting down on a chair, fixed to the wing and secured by a harness. Another way to do wing walking is by standing up on the wing, being tied to a harness and a rope and doing acrobatic exercises. This is the case of Ainhoa Sánchez, she is the only Spanish Wing Walker. She takes part in air shows around the world doing wing walking on planes flying at 150 kilometres per hour.

1.- Wing walking is a very new entertainment activity. ____

2.- There is only one way to do Wing Walking. ____

Tuesday

Hi Jane,

How did the dentist's go? Were you on time for your 8:15 appointment? A bit early wasn't it?

So, this Friday we are going to a Flamenco show. I've left your ticket with this note for you, and you can pay me later.

Roy called to say that you'll have to meet him at The Chinese on Wednesday because the Italian is closed. He'll wait for you at 12:30.

Anyway, we'll talk at the gym this evening.

Ciao, Rachel
