PLANS OF ANIMALS

Once, there was a jungle. In that jungle,so many animals lived. They used to eat dinner together. A monkey thought, we never get out this jungle. Why can't we go out of our house, like people do in their cars.

We'll go to a city, and see beautiful places there. He shared his thoughts with all the other animals. Everyone liked this thought but the question was. how do we share this thought with the lion, because he was the one who would have to give permission for them to go to the city.

No one wanted to go, and ask him. And then the monkey said. Miss Fox is really cunning. You can go and ask him, Miss Fox. When he asked the Fox, she said yes, to the proposal.

Next afternoon, she went to meet the lion. She saw that lion was sleeping Peacefully. This made the Fox comfortable. She thought of talking to the Lion, and everyone knows that lion really like the news about leaving the jungle.

The lion woke up, and the Fox told everything about the idea. Lion liked the idea, and he gave permission to everyone. Everyone decided to meet the next day. Everyone, was told to tell the lion what they would do, while they were visiting the city.

All the animals were supposed to bring their own lunch boxes. All of them were so eager to begin the journey that morning. They got up very early.

Miss elephant, wore her favorite black coat. The rabbit wore his white shirt. The deer got a nice golden bindi. They made a group of three animals, and started their journey. That troop, was led by Fox and monkey. After a while they reached the city .

Oh No. Something was wrong. When people saw them. All of them ran, and hid in their houses. And they were peeping through their Windows. All the fruit vendors left their belongings on the road. And just ran away.

those fresh fruits, and vegetables were very tempting to all the animals from the jungle. But they didn't eat it. What if the lion gets angry, and they just started walking.

finally they reached a garden. Again, all roadside vendors ran away from the wild animals. Elephant took one cart with her to the garden. Now all of them were starving. They got ready to eat the lunches, they had brought.

Rabbit, had brought radish, and cucumber. Lion, had brought some meat. Elephant, had brought lots of sugarcane. All of them ate a lot of food. They were sitting below a tree, and a photographer, was sitting on the tree itself.

He slowly came in front of them, and took a very nice picture. Then all of them met local animals from the garden. There, they saw a beautiful train, and all of them sat in the train, but when the driver saw the, he ran out of the train in fear.

Then, the bear rode the train. They had a very pleasant ride. Then they played other games too. They played on the swings, but elephant was too heavy, so he could not enjoy the swing.

Overall, their outing to the city was amazing. And then they headed back to the jungle, and decided to come back to the city every year .
