Versatile   software   diligence   program   Hardware

1. Fill in the blanks with the appropriate words:

a. The set of instructions given to a computer is called ....

b. .... is the computer's machinery that you can see and touch.

c. .... is a list of instructions that a computer receives in order to carry out its tasks.

d. .... means ability to work for a long time without getting tired.

e. .... means ability to do different types of tasks.

2. Write whether the following statements are True or False:

a. Processing is the set of instructions given to the computer. [   ]

b. Hardware is the computer's machinery. [   ]

c. Computers cannot work for long without resting. [   ]

d. Computers are not versatile machines. [   ]

e. A computer has a memory where it can store data. [   ]

3. Match the following:

Input	a device used to hold data and instruction
Process	any facts that do not provide a clear meaning
Output	to compare data or perform calculation
Memory	anything that is entered into a computer
Data	the result produced by a computer