There are many people that I greatly admire. Some are famous sportsmen and celebrities while others are just ordinary people 1 _____ my teachers and friends. However, there is one person who I look up to much more than anyone else; that person is my father.

My father is the most good-natured person I know. I have never seen him angry even though my sister and I often got into trouble when we were at school. He has always been friendly and optimistic. 2 _____ he grew up in a poor family and has had a hard life, he never complains.

3 _____ why I admire my father so much is because he is very talented in a variety of fields. He can play the guitar and the piano extremely well. He's also really good at drawing and painting. Moreover, my father is a skillful handyman. 4 _____, whenever our car has a problem, he can fix it by himself. 5 _____, I respect my dad's selflessness. When I was born, he gave up his career as a professional musician and he found a better paying but boring office job. 6 _____, because my mother was too sick to work, my father also got a part-time job.

7 _____, my father is the person that I admire the most because of his good nature, talents, and self-sacrifice for his family.

8 _____, I will be like him one day.
