Choose 'good support' if the sentence gives evidence to support the topic sentence. Choose 'not good support' if the sentences are vague, general, or wordy.

a) I really cannot stand the people who moved next door. They are not good neighbors. Every day when I return from work, at about six, they are outside the house, making a lot of noise. These people usually put out the loudspeakers, and they play their music at a loud volume. All I want to do is rest after a hard day's work, but with these neighbors, it is impossible.

b) I love my mother with all my heart, but she was really hard on my sister and me. I remember this one night when my mom came back after work. I had been playing with my little sister and I "accidentally" cut all her hair. We were at the barbershop, and of course, I was the barber. It was amusing when I grabbed the scissors, and I chopped off most of her hair. I cannot stop laughing.

c) People say that dogs are men's best friends, but I think that cats are better pets than dogs. Cats are very independent animals, so they do whatever they want to do whenever they want to do their things. My cat is enormous. I guess because we have always fed him balance food. His name is Carlos, but he never pays attention to me when I call him.
