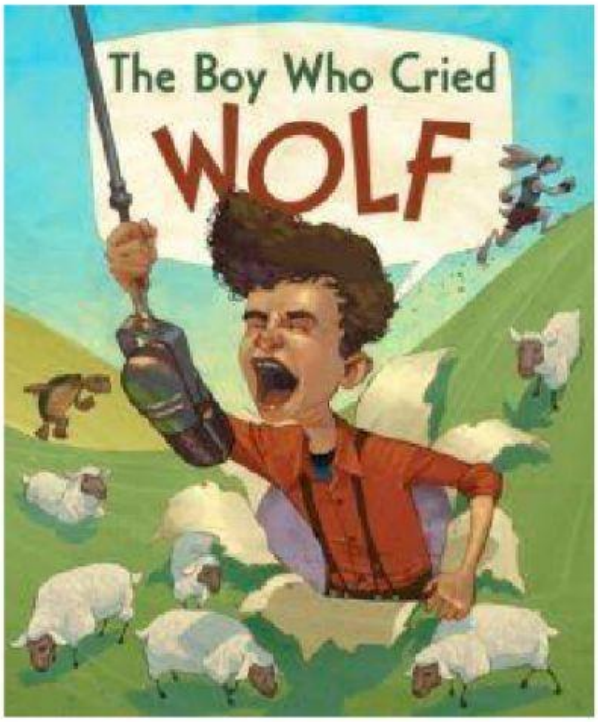
The Boy Who Cried Wolf



Once upon a time, there was a boy who had a duty to look after a flock of sheep. He used to lie for his fun.

One day he started shouting, "Wolf, Wolf, Wolf", upon hearing this, the villagers ran towards him for his help.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

But when the villagers reached he was laughing at them as there was no wolf. He was lying and making a fool out of the villagers. This continued for some days.

And finally, one Friday morning, a wolf really came and shouted again, nobody came and as a result, the boy was killed by the wolf. There was no one to blame but him.

THE END!

LIVEWORKSHEETS

QUESTIONS:

Click the letter of your answer.

1. What is the story all about?
   a. About a boy who asks for help.
   b. About a boy who's very cheerful.
   c. About a boy who's making fun of people.

2. What did the villagers do when he shouted for help at first?
   a. They let him be.
   b. They ran fast to help him.
   c. They ignored the boy's action.

3. Is the boy's joke good?
   a. Yes, because he entertained the villagers.
   b. No, because he disturbs the villagers' time.
   c. No, because it is not good to make serious situations fun.

4. Will you also follow the boy's action?
   a. No, because this will lead me to a tragic accident.
   b. No, because I don't want the people to hate me.
   c. Yes, because it's quite fun!

5. What lesson does the story wants us to learn?
   a. To be good to all people.
   b. To be serious at all times.
   c. To be sensitive in my actions.

(3-4:A.R)

LIVEWORKSHEETS