

Let's meet Peter

Hi! I'm Peter. I am 10 years old and live with my parents in San Francisco. I am in the _____ grade. In the United States we call that elementary school. I love playing sports, _____ cartoons and playing video games. Playing sports is fun and very good for you.

I have a brother and a sister. My brother is 17 and is in his last year of High School. He loves sports and going to parties. He never takes me to any _____ but sometimes he takes my sister and me to the beach. My sister's name is Jane. She is 11. She loves reading and playing soccer. She reads one or two books every week and watches every _____ game on TV. She gets into trouble at school all the time because she doesn't do her homework. She pretends to pay attention in class but reads her books under the desk. My parents sometimes _____ my brother help her with her homework. Very often he just does her homework for her so that he can go out with his girlfriend.

I have a girlfriend too. Her name is Shenaaz. She moved to San Francisco with her parents from Lebanon. She is very pretty. She speaks _____ and Arabic and is learning English. She doesn't have her own books yet so we sit together in class and I share my books with her. On the weekend, she comes _____ and watches movies with my family and me. Her parents like her to spend time at our house because she can learn English with us. At home, they only speak French or Arabic.

When I grow up I want to be a policeman and help _____ criminals. My teacher says I will have to study hard so I will be smarter than the criminals. The cops on TV seem really smart, so I make sure I get 'A's in everything so I can be _____ like them. My Dad is really smart too. He is a mechanic. He can _____ any car in the world. He told me he had to study really hard too. If I don't become a cop, I want to become a mechanic and fix people's cars. I guess I will have to stop playing video games so much and study so that I can be _____ and help people when I grow up.
