Match the sentences with the correct explanation

1) I've never seen ___such___ chaos!

2) How was ___such___ a huge change come about in just a single generation?

3) Working on teams is completely natural for ___so___ many teens and young adults.

4) They often complain that " the job was just ___so___ boring".

So/Such

We use so and such to add emphasis and intensify a description:

a) so + adjective/adverb:
The trip was so long. He speaks so slowly.

b) so + much/many/little/few + noun:
I have so much work to do this afternoon.

c) such + (a/an) + (adjective) + noun:
He's such a supportive manager.

d) such + noun to mean "this kind of":
I've never read such nonsense before.

NOTE: We often use that with so/such to talk about a result or consequence:
The job was so boring that I decided to quit.
