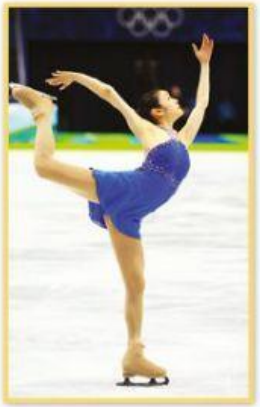
Tiger 6 Unit 6

Canada at the Winter Olympics



The Winter Olympics take place once every four years.
Sports at the Winter Olympics include skiing, skating, ice hockey and snowboarding. These are sports that need ice and snow.

Canadians are passionate about ice hockey. It's their national winter sport. Skiing and skating are also very popular in Canada. So Canadians are always very interested in the Winter Olympics. The country usually does very well.

In 2010, the Winter Olympics were in Vancouver, on the west coast of Canada. The Canadians won 14 gold medals, and the women's ice hockey team and the men's ice hockey team both won gold medals!

Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir were the ice dance Champions at the 2010 Winter Olympics. They were the youngest people to win an Olympic gold medal in the history of their sport!

1.- Watch the video. Pincha para poder verlo donde pone
Disfruta de este vídeo en YouTube.

2.- Complete the sentences.

How often do the Winter Olympics take place?
The Winter Olympics once .

Where were the Winter Olympics in 2010?
The Winter Olympics in 2010 were in , on the south west coast of .

Where were the Winter Olympics in 2014?
The Winter Olympics in 2014 were in , in .

Who was the youngest Canadian athlete who competed in 2014?
The youngest Canadian athlete who competed in 2014 was .