Come and Dance on Stage!

If you like dancing, please enter the school dance contest. Dance by yourself or with your friends.

When: October 21 from 3 p.m.
Where: School gym

Your performance should be about two minutes long, and you can do any kind of dancing.

Mr. Lee, our P.E. teacher, was a professional hip-hop dancer when he was young. He'll do a special performance at the contest with our principal, Mr. Sharp. Mr. Sharp has never danced on stage before, so he's very excited!

If you're interested, please see Ms. Matthews by October 10. Dancing is fun, so don't be nervous and sign up!

(21) What is this notice about?

1 A contest at a school.
2 A party for a teacher.
3 A new school club.
4 Some free dance lessons.

(22) Mr. Sharp is going to

1 teach a P.E. class with Mr. Lee.
2 watch a dance performance on October 10.
3 go to a music festival with Ms. Matthews.
4 dance in the school gym on October 21.

From: Richard Keyser
To: Kelly Peterson, Joe Rogers
Date: September 18
Subject: Mr. Tanagawa

Hi Kelly and Joe,
Did you hear about our Japanese teacher, Mr. Tanagawa? He lives on my street, and my mom talked to his wife today. Mom heard that Mr. Tanagawa hurt his back. He was working in his garden on Thursday afternoon, and he got a strained back.* He can't come to school until Wednesday. Let's do something for him. Today is Saturday, so maybe we can get him something this weekend. Should we get him some flowers and a card?
Your friend,
Richard

From: Kelly Peterson
To: Richard Keyser, Joe Rogers
Date: September 18
Subject: Oh no!

Hello Richard and Joe,
I'm sad to hear about Mr. Tanagawa. Flowers are a nice idea. I think he likes sunflowers. A card will be nice, too. I have an idea! Let's make a card for him in Japanese. All our classmates can sign it after our class on Monday afternoon. Then, Richard can take the card to Mr. Tanagawa. I'll make it on my computer tomorrow night and bring it to school on Monday morning. What do you think?
See you,
Kelly

From: Joe Rogers
To: Richard Keyser, Kelly Peterson
Date: September 19
Subject: Good idea

Hi,
That's a great idea, Kelly. My uncle owns a flower shop, and I asked him about the flowers. He'll give us some sunflowers. I'll get them from his shop after school on Monday, and then, I'll take them to Richard's house. Richard can give the card and flowers to Mr. Tanagawa on Tuesday morning before school. Also, let's plan something for him when he comes back to school. We can make a sign that says, "Welcome back, Mr. Tanagawa!"
See you tomorrow,
Joe

Edwin Land

Many people like to take photos. These days, people usually take photos with smartphones or digital* cameras, so they can see their photos right away. Before digital photos, people usually had to wait to see their pictures. They took pictures on film* and sent the film to a store. Then, someone developed* the film and printed the pictures on paper. This usually took a few days. But in those days, there was one way to get pictures much more quickly. People could use instant cameras.*

A scientist named Edwin Land made the first instant camera. Land was born in 1909 in Connecticut in the United States. When he was a child, he enjoyed playing with things like radios and clocks. Land liked to understand how things worked, so he studied science at Harvard University. In 1932, he started a company with George Wheelwright, and they called it Land-Wheelwright Laboratories. In 1937, the company name was changed to Polaroid.

One day, Land was on vacation with his family. He took a photo of his daughter. She asked him, "Why can't I see the photo now?" This gave him an idea. Land built an instant camera in 1947. It developed and printed photos in less than one minute.

Land's company made 60 instant cameras in 1948. The cameras were very popular, and they were sold out in one day. The company made more instant cameras, and customers all around the United States bought them. After that, people were able to see their pictures right away.
