Name: _____ Date: _____

Homophones- Your and You're

- Homophones are words that have the same sound as another word but have different spellings and meanings.
  - ✓ Your- Describes something that belongs to you. (I love your jacket!)
  - ✓ You're- A contraction for you and are. (You're very smart!)

Use the word your or you're to correctly fill in each sentence.

1. I would love to visit _____ home sometime soon.

2. Let's go to _____ classroom and help the teacher.

3. _____ going to help with chores this weekend.

4. Is _____ homework finished yet?

5. Darren wanted to play baseball this weekend, but _____ going to be away.

6. Angie wanted to borrow _____ pencil.

7. I think _____ an excellent singer!

8. Why did you forget _____ homework this morning?

9. Please don't put _____ feet up on the coffee table.

10. I would like to meet _____ best friend.

11. _____ reading some of my favorite books!

12. The dog accidentally chewed up _____ soccer shoes.

13. This afternoon, _____ going to bake a special treat..

www.englishlinx.com©
LIVEWORKSHEETS