Listen and look. There is one example.

[pause]

Man: Hello, Sue. I'm a journalist - I'm going to do a programme about jobs. Can I ask you some questions, please?

Woman: Yes, of course.

Man: What's your surname?

Woman: Clark.

Man: Is that C -L-A-R -K?

Woman: That's right. [pause]

Can you see the answers' N ow you listen and write.

[pause]

Man: And what do you do, Sue? What's your job?

Woman: I'm an artist.

Man: Do you paint pictures?

Woman: No, I'm not that kind of artist. I make things.

Man: Oh, I see. So if you don't paint, what do you make things with?

Woman: Sometimes I use metal, but I prefer making things with wood.

Man: I see, mmm ... Now, can you tell me about your day, Sue? Do you start work early?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Woman: Yes, I do. I work from seven o'clock in the morning until midday.

Man: So you have to get up early then! And where do you like to work?

Woman: I do all my work in the basement. It’s nice and quiet there.

Man: Did you make these things here? They’re lovely.

Woman: Yes ... and this is my favourite.

Man: Oh ... a music box!

Woman: Yes, and if you turn the key, it plays a song!

LIVEWORKSHEETS