

Compare and Contrast Paragraph

Geese and whales are different kinds of animals that migrate in large groups. Geese are birds, but whales are mammals. Birds spend much of their time in the air, but whales live in water. These animals are alike, though, because they both migrate thousands of miles. Both geese and whales travel in large groups to reach warmer weather. Geese migrate in groups called flocks. Whales travel in groups called pods.

1. What two things are being compared?

2. How are the two things different?

3. How are the two things alike?
