SEEING HISTORY

What was the last museum you were at? Was it good? What was your favourite exhibit? Send us your reports of the best things to see on holiday this year.

Mary: I was in London with my family last summer. We were in the Victoria and Albert Museum. (0) There was an exhibition of shoes from different countries and periods in history. It was really interesting. (1)…….some very tall, strange shoes from Japan from 1929s. (2)…….. also some tiny shoes from China from the 19th century. For people in those days, the "perfect" size for women`s feet was 7.6 centimetres. I`m sure the shoes weren`t very comfortable. A lot of girls weren`t allowed to wear normal shoes. I think that was very cruel.

Tim: Our last school trip was to the Natural History Museum. Was it another boring trip? No, it wasn`t – that was a surprise. The building was beautiful, the food in the café was brilliant and the exhibits were all really interesting. The most popular were the dinosaurs. The Diplodocus was enormous – it was 26 metres long. And (3) …….. a model of a Tyrannosaurus Rex with 15-centimetre-long teeth. Ouch! (4)……. very scary animals.

Jess: Hey, you were lucky, Tim. We were on a school trip to a farm and it was terrible. (5)…… any exciting animals, and the café wasn`t very good. But last week I was at the National Motor Museum with my family and that was great fun. (6)…….. a lot of cars and motorbikes in the museum collection. My favourite was the fastest car in the world in 1964. It was strange – very big and long. It was called Bluebird. Here – I`ve got a photo of it.
