Someone I Admire

Someone I admire is my cousin, Laura. She is five years older than me, so she's 19 now and she lives in Bristol. She is very friendly and confident and she's got long, wavy, brown hair and greeny-brown eyes. She is medium height, slim, and very fit because she is dancer. She's been dancing since she was six years old and trains every day at her dance school. She wants to be a professional dancer, but it's a very difficult profession because it's so competitive. She often dances in shows and I've been to watch her several times. Her favorite type of dance is modern, which is sometimes a bit strange, but I love watching her dance. Laura is very busy because she also studies photography at university. She's a really good photographer and has taken lots of amazing photos of me and my family. Her photos have won a few prizes and last year one of her photos was in an exhibition at an art gallery in London. Laura doesn't have a lot of free time and she's also trying to learn German because she wants to go to Germany next year to do a photography course. I think Laura is very hard-working.
