He said he voted using his phone…

because people may share it immediately on social media.

This embarrassing information is normally kept secret, so…

I think it might have influenced her opinions.

Today, politicians always have to be careful about what they say…

people may feel more involved (engagés, concernés).

Even though she says she doesn't trust the news website…

so it must have been on the mobile app.

With more ways to interact with politics….

the person who leaked it must be a whistleblower.
