History of Computer

The first computers were used to do addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division like the ancient Chinese math device known as

The programmers were using   to   tell   the computer instructions

The first computer games made were called asteroids and

Anyone can learn to design their own games and apps even children, this is called   or

                    Is a set of instructions, called program, which tells the computer what to do.

                    Is any electronic or mechanical part, you can see or touch.