

Use the Possessive Case instead of the of-phrases.

1. Did you see _____ at the party? (The wife of Mr. Smith)
2. Look, this small girl is _____. (The younger sister of Jane)
3. _____ is not new. (The best suit of my dad)
4. The teacher didn't like _____ of the last test. (The results of the students)
5. When we came home _____ were all around the room. (The toys of the children)
6. It was hard for the new girl to understand _____. (The tasks of the manager)
7. _____ at the graduation party are always very beautiful. (The dresses of the girls)
8. I accidentally broke _____. (The toy of my sister)
9. _____ are attractive. (The faces of those women)
10. _____ sounds funny. (The voice of that smiling man)
11. _____ is my aunt. (The sister of my mum)
12. _____ are in the bookcase. (The books of her uncle)
13. Take _____. (The bag of your granny)
14. _____ are very beautiful. (The eyes of Mary)
15. Everybody likes _____. (The new suit of Max)

