UNIT 3

USE OF WILL/WON'T/GOING TO

Reading: Survey

This week, we are talking about music. How important is it to you and how do you usually listen to it.

Sofia Moreno, 18

Music is very important to me. I don't play any instruments, but I listen to lots of music. I'm going to get a phone that plays music, for my birthday. (I saw it in my Mom's bag!) I'm going to make playlists for different moods. In fact, I think I'll make a playlist for my birthday party on Saturday. I don't think I'll use my CD player much in the future because they probably won't make CDs anymore.

Stuart Keenan, 21

I love music. I play the guitar in a band. We play rock mostly. I'm not going to be a professional musician, but music will always be important to me. I'm a little old-fashioned because I collect CDs and I also have some vinyl records. I listen to the radio, too.

Tom Jacobs, Record producer, has some ideas about the future of music

Some people will continue to buy CDs, but I think most people will probably download their music from the internet. Webcasts and podcasts are popular, and I can see that they're going to be even more important in the future.
