My new school

Today the plan is Mum and I visit my new school and meet the head teacher. Imagine! We arrive at 10 o'clock. A man comes out dressed in green pyjamas with rainbows. I look at my mum, her mouth is open.

'Hello. I'm Mr Gart. Pleased to meet you both! I want to take you around the school. Let's start with the library.' When we get there, I look around. There are students studying. They are all wearing pyjamas, too. 'Next, the computer room! Follow me!' says Mr Gart, like everything is normal. As we walk out, a child in a dressing gown runs past us in the corridor.

'No running in the corridor. And do I see shoes on your feet, Jessica? Slippers next time, please!' Mr Gart shouts.

'Yes, Mr Gart!' Jessica shouts. We walk up some stairs. My mum looks very worried.

'This is the computer roo...' says Mr Gart looking at mum's face. 'I'm sorry. Is everything OK?'

'Uhm,' says Mum quietly, 'are pyjamas the school uniform here?'

"Oh dear! I didn't tell you. Today is 'Wear your pyjamas to school' day! Everyone has to wear their pyjamas to school to raise money for charity.'

'Oh! Now I understand. You're not all crazy!' says Mum. I start laughing, then Mr Gart starts laughing and then Mum, too. Soon everyone in the computer room is looking at us like we are crazy! I think I am going to like this school!
