Chapter 11

Straits in the World

A Strait is defined as a comparatively narrow passageway connecting two large bodies of water. It may also be described as a naturally formed, narrow, typically navigable waterway that connects two larger bodies of water.

Read the description and name the following straits in the world. You can take help from the help card :

1. It separates Europe from Africa. _____
2. It separates England and France. _____
3. It separates northern and Southern New Zealand. _____
4. It separates Java and Sumatra islands of Indonesia. _____
5. It separates India from Sri Lanka. _____
6. It separates Russia and America. _____
7. It separates Sardinia Island in Italy with Corsica island in France. _____
8. It separates Italy and Sicily. _____
9. It separates Malaysia and Indonesia. _____
10. It separates Greenland and Canada. _____
11. It separates Australia and Tasmania. _____
12. It separates China and Taiwan. _____
13. It separates Mexico and Cuba. _____
14. It separates Papua New Guinea and Australia. _____
15. It separates Oman and Iran. _____

Help Card

Palk Strait, Davis Strait, Yucatan Strait, Strait of Dover, Bass Strait, Strait of Gibraltar, Cook Strait, Bering Strait, Strait of Bonifacio, Sunda Strait, Strait of Hormuz, Taiwan Strait, Strait Messina, Torres Strait, Malacca Strait

LIVEWORKSHEETS