Read the message from your friend, Elizabeth Theresa.

Hi Hosea,

Lately, I heard that you bought a new phone. How is it so far? I am interested in knowing what criteria you look into before buying a phone. Will you be able to share some ideas on this?

I look forward to your reply.

Firstly, the main concern would be the price.

It's so nice to hear from you.

From here, you now should look into other aspects of the phone, such as the camera megapixels and resolution, the phone size itself, and if the spare parts are easy to find.

Best,
Hosea

Hope this has helped. See you soon.

Next, look into the operating systems.

Yes, my phone is great and I really enjoy using it. To answer you on the criteria, there are a few things you may want to look into.

Dear Elizabeth,

Both Android and IOS has its pros and cons, so you may want to look into which suit you most.

Most phones cost an arm and a leg, and it is best to stick to something on the moderate price range so it will not hurt your parent's pockets.
