B. Read the text about the Internet and communication. Decide whether the statements are T (True), F (False) or DS (Doesn't say).

How the Internet Changes the Way We Communicate

The Internet is a big part of our lives. It changes how we talk and share information. Here are five ways it does this:

1. Text messages: Phone calls may be quick, but with the Internet, we can send text messages to each other right away, too. Unlike phone calls, we can read and send text messages when it's convenient.

2. Emails: With email, we can send letters through the Internet. It saves time and it's easy to send a message with just a few clicks!

3. Social Media: Many people use social media to communicate with family and friends. We can use it to share our lives with others, even if they live far away from us.

4. Video Calls: Thanks to the Internet, we can see and talk to friends or family on the screen. It's almost like being in the same room.

5. Information Access: We can find out about current events quickly online. From news websites to social media, everything is just a click away. We don't have to wait for newspapers or the evening news on TV anymore.

As you can see, the Internet changes communication by making it faster, easier and more fun! It connects us in ways we never imagined in the past. Who knows what the future holds for communication?

33. Phone calls are more convenient than text messages. ....

34. Email is faster than sending letters by post. ....

35. We can use social media to contact people who are far away. ....

36. Video calls only work properly if the speakers are in different rooms. ....
