V/ Read the text and answer the questions.

The ancient Egyptians used a writing system called hieroglyphics, which included pictures and symbols instead of letters. These symbols helped people record history, tell stories, and send messages. Later, the Greeks and Romans developed their own alphabets. Today, communication is much faster. We can send messages using texts, emails, or even emojis. Some people also use sign language to talk without speaking.

1. What was special about hieroglyphics?

   _____.
2. Why did people use symbols in ancient times?

   _____.
3. Which two groups created alphabets after the Egyptians?

   _____.
4. How is modern communication different from ancient communication?

   _____.
5. Give three modern ways people can send messages.

   _____.
