Complete the text with the following idioms:

down in the dumps; keep me in the dark ; not all it's cracked to be; caught my eye; right up my street; take things easy; off the beaten track; came down to earth with a bump; in my element; the crack of down.

Last week, I was feeling (1) _____ because things hadn't been going well at work. My boss tends to (2) _____ about important decisions, so I never know what's happening. I thought my new job would be amazing, but it's (3) _____. However, something exciting happened the other day: I was walking through town when a job advertisement in a shop window (4) _____. It looked like the perfect position for me. The job was just (5) _____. I've been looking for a change, somewhere a bit (6) _____, away from the busy city.

That evening, I couldn't stop thinking about the new opportunity. The next morning, I woke up at (7) _____ to prepare for the interview. I felt so excited; I was (8) _____ during the interview, doing what I love most. Afterward, I (9) _____ and remind myself that there's still a chance I won't get the job. But for now, I'm going to (10) _____ and not worry too much about it.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Complete the text with the following idioms:

get away from it all; run-of-the-mill; as brown as a berry; round-the-clock; my best bet; over the moon; get into the swing of; steer clear; let my hair down; a new lease of life.

After working (1) _____ on a big project, I knew I needed to (2) _____. The stress was getting to me, and my everyday routine felt so (3) _____. So, I booked a vacation to a remote island, hoping it would be (4) _____ for some rest and relaxation.

When I arrived, I was (5) _____ with the stunning views and peaceful atmosphere. It took a day or two to (6) _____ the relaxed island vibe, but soon I was fully enjoying the calm and quiet. I decided to (7) _____ of the crowded tourist spots and explore some hidden gems instead.

By the end of the week, I was (8) _____ from all the time spent in the sun. On my last night, there was a beach party, and I took the chance to (9) _____ and dance the night away. It was the perfect way to end my trip.

When I got back home, I felt (10) _____. The break was just what I needed to recharge and feel refreshed.

LIVEWORKSHEETS