1. After decades in the field, the professor knows the subject _____ out and can answer any question.
2. As a veteran software engineer, she clearly knows her _____ when it comes to coding best practices.
3. Although I couldn't recall the details, the phrase definitely had a familiar _____ to it.
4. His name rings a _____, but I can't pinpoint where I know him from.
5. I'm completely in the dark — I don't have the slightest _____ where the documents might be.
6. She acted as if she understood, but in reality, she didn't have the _____ clue what was going on.
7. I tried to recall the password, but I couldn't for the _____ of me remember it.
8. I'm totally out of _____ with the latest updates in artificial intelligence.
9. We were asked to identify the speaker, but honestly, the voice doesn't ring any _____ with me.
10. Even after reading the manual twice, I still don't have the _____ (idea) how to operate the machine.
11. Based on the clues, the detective quickly put two and two _____ and solved the mystery.
12. I thought she was criticizing my work, but I had actually grabbed the wrong end of the _____.
13. He noticed her avoiding eye contact and put two and _____ together – something was wrong.
14. You assumed I was upset because I didn't text back – you totally got the wrong end of the _____.
15. I didn't know the full story, but I managed to put two and _____ together from what I heard.

LIVEWORKSHEETS