★ Lua is listening to some texts. Listen to the first text and choose the correct option:

Picture:

In India, people traditionally 1. each other saying "Namaste". They place their 2. in a praying position at the chest and bow slightly. The other person answers by doing the same gesture and 3. Namaste back. This greeting translates as "I bow to the divine in you".

1. a) greet b) treat c) meet 2. a) arms b) hands c) fingers 3. a) singing b) praying c) saying

★ Listen to the second text and fill in the blanks:

Picture:

The people from the Arctic areas from Alaska, and Greenland are called Inuit. The Inuit commonly greet their with a gesture called "kunik". This gesture involves pressing the tip of one's against another's nose. The kunik is mostly used between mothers and .

★ Listen to the third text and decide if the sentences are true or false.

1. In Tibet people stick their tongues out as a way of greeting.
2. This greeting is new.
3. The greeting was used to show they were peaceful.
4. The friendly King's tongue was black.
5. Tibetan people use the expression "Tashi Delek" to wish good luck.

LIVEWORKSHEETS