Infinitive is the «to» form, to smile, to dance, to walk and so on.

Present simple is what is happening every day, normally, always, twice a week and so on.

Present continuous is what is happening right now, at the moment, this evening and so on.

Past simple is what happened yesterday, last week, three months a go and so on.

Infinitive	Present (presens)		Past simple (preteritum)
	Simple	continuous
To smile	Smile(s)	Am/are/is smiling	smiled
To dance	Dance(s)	Am/are/is dancing	danced
To walk	Walk(s)	Am/are/is walking	walked

Yesterday, I home from the cinema.

She always to me when I meet her.

I am so happy right now, that I like crazy.

Look! Two dogs in the street!

I cookies this evening. Do you want to help me?

My cat always in my bed.

I to Paris two years ago.

Peter as if he has been crying.

Tina and Mona to the theatre this evening.

We games at the moment. Do not disturb.

Lilly that she is the most popular girl in class.

Last year, we in the football cup and won!

Sometimes, I with my little sister.

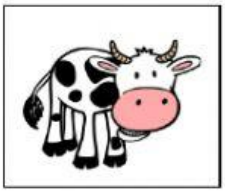
You normally at 7 o`clock. Why are you so late now?

The birds in the spring.

My cat a lot with the neighbour cat.

Right now, my cat with the neighbour cat.

Tom the bus to school every day.



Buffalo Bill a lot of Bison in the 1800`s.

The farmer the cows every morning and evening.

LIVEWORKSHEETS