Test 3. Listening. Part 2. Listen and look. There is one example.

Can I ask you some questions, Mr. White?

Yes, of course, Jane. What do you want to know?

Well, it's for my school _____. I have to find out information about someone's job.

Oh, okay. How do you spell your surname? It's _____

Thank you.

Can you see the answer? Now you listen and write.

What's your job, Mr. White?

I'm a _____.

Oh, that's an unusual job.

Well, I love _____.

Me too. So, do you work in a restaurant?

No, I've never worked in one of those. I work in a _____. I cook the food for all the people who are _____ and for the doctors and nurses who work there.

Wow, that's a lot of people.

Yes, I'm always _____. How old were you when you started your job?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Oh, I was much younger than I am now. I was _____.

I remember because I started the job the day after my birthday.

And where did you learn how to do your job? Did you go to university?

I didn't need to do that. I went to _____ and learned everything there. I wasn't a very good student.

Right. And the last question. Do you wear a uniform at work?

Yes, everyone who works in the kitchens has to wear a uniform. It's white and _____. I like the uniform, but it's difficult to keep clean.

Yes, I'm sure. Thank you for answering my questions, Mr. White.

You're welcome. I'm happy to help.

LIVEWORKSHEETS