The Arctic

The Arctic is a very, very cold place. Life is difficult for animals in the Arctic. There aren't many plants for animals to eat. But many animals live in the Arctic. Of course, everyone knows the polar bear with its white fur and black nose. There are also seals and whales in the cold ocean water. Birds live in the Arctic, too. The Arctic tern flies from Antarctica in the south to the Arctic in the summer to make its nest there. The tern is not the only bird that lives in the Arctic. The snowy owl lives there all year. Because there are no trees in the Arctic, birds there make their nests on the ground.
