Text for questions number 14 and 15

A team of scientists from Texas University helped an injured sea turtle when they sailed in the ocean near Costa Rica.

The scientists were collecting data on sea turtles when they saw the injured turtle. They noticed something in the nose of the turtle when it was swimming near their boat. But, they initially thought it was only a worm.

The scientists were curious. They caught the turtle to examine the object in the turtle's nose. They wanted to make sure it was not a dangerous parasite. They extracted a couple of centimeters of the object with pliers. The object came out. It was wrinkled and brownish.

It was a plastic drinking straw!

The scientists removed the object immediately because they were far away in the ocean. They spent almost ten minutes pulling it from the nostril of a sea turtle. With great difficulty, they succeeded in pulling the straw out of the turtle's nostril. The nostril was bleeding, but the turtle was safe.

The straw incident proved how dangerous plastic was to animals in the oceans.

Text for questions number 33 to 35

The story begins with a meeting between Buto Ijo, a powerful mystical giant, and Mbok Srini, a lonely widow longing for a child. Mbok Srini begged Buto Ijo for a child, and he granted her a large cucumber, making her promise to give him the child when the time came.

Mbok Srini took the cucumber home and planted it. After some time, she discovered a baby girl inside and named her Timun Mas. She raised Timun Mas with love, forgetting her promise to Buto Ijo.

Years later, Buto Ijo came to claim the child. Terrified, Timun Mas fled, carrying magical items; cucumber seeds, needles, and salt given by her mother. As Buto Ijo chased her, she used the magic to slow him down. Finally, she threw salt behind her, creating an ocean that swallowed Buto Ijo whole, saving herself and her mother.

33. Why did Mbok Srini agree to Buto Ijo's condition? (choose 2 correct answers)
    A. She was desperate to have a child.
    B. She wanted to test Buto Ijo's magical power.
    C. She ignored the consequences of her promise.
    D. She believed that Buto Ijo would truly forget it.
34. How did Timun Mas manage to escape from Buto Ijo? (choose 2 correct answers)
    A. She begged Buto Ijo to let her go and run.
    B. She used magical items to slow him down.
    C. She ran and hid in the forest until he gave up.
    D. She used salt to create an ocean that drowned him.

Andre and Princess Suripit

Andre was playing a game when, suddenly, he was pulled inside! He landed in Mangrovian, a kingdom full of mangrove trees. There, he met Princess Suripit, who told him that the only way home was to find the black orchid in the Dark Forest.

"But I'm just a student!" Andre said.

Suripit handed him a sword. "Here, you are a sword master! Let's go."

They followed a map to Dragon Hill, where a dragon guarded the orchid inside a cave.

"We need a plan," Suripit whispered. "You distract the dragon, and I'll grab the orchid."

Andre ran in front of the dragon. "Hey! Catch me if you can!" The dragon chased him while Suripit took the orchid.

"Here is the black orchid. Now you can go home," she said.

A bright light surrounded Andre. In seconds, he was back in his room with the black orchid on his desk!
