It was a Friday morning when my mom decided to invite our _____ to come over. My father was coming to town from a long business trip. My mother wanted to have a surprise family reunion. My sister and I helped my mom cleaning the house, and we even baked a cake.

Just when my uncles, aunts and _____ began to arrive, my father called. "I can't go _____ today. The flight was cancelled", he told my mom, sadly.

My mom was sad, but then she remembered all our _____ was in the living room. So she took some snacks and drinks, while we were setting up the table for dinner.

We were all sitting on the dining room when the doorbell rang. "Who could it be?" my _____ asked. I got up to open the door and someone yelled: "Surprise!"

And there he was smiling in front of me, my dad. I was very happy to see him! My mother was angry at first, but then she and my sister rushed to kiss him.

"A family _____? Wow this is a surprise, isn't it?" he said laughing.

We had _____ that night and my father never tried to trick my mother ever again.
