A Saturday at the Community Garden

Every Saturday, Maya helps at the community garden in her town. Last Saturday, her friend Noah came with her for the first time. Noah thought growing vegetables was difficult, but Maya told him that working in a garden could be fun.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

At nine o'clock, they met Mr Lee, who showed them a small garden. First, Maya had to remove the weeds, while Noah watered the lettuce and green beans. The pumpkins were still green, so Mr Lee said they were not ripe. He explained that they could pick them later.

After lunch, Noah accidentally scratched himself on a branch. The scratch was small, but Maya found the first-aid kit. Mr Lee said, "You should wash the scratch with clean water before putting on a bandage." Noah followed his advice and soon felt better.

Before going home, Maya took a picture of the garden with her cell phone. Next Sunday, she is coming back with her cousin to plant cucumbers. Noah wants to come again because the garden is more interesting than he expected.
