How Young Adults Spend Their Free Time

Recent surveys show that young adults in big cities have very busy schedules during the week. Most people work or study from Monday to Friday, so they rarely have time to relax in the evenings. However, nearly all of them try to stay active on weekends.

According to the survey, running and going to the gym are more popular than team sports like soccer or basketball because people can exercise alone at any time. Around 60% of young adults say they work out at least three times a week. On the other hand, not many people watch television anymore; instead, most prefer streaming series or listening to podcasts.

Last weekend, we interviewed Elena, a 26-year-old marketing assistant. "I usually go to the gym four times a week, and I always cook dinner at home," she said. "Last Saturday was different, though. My friends invited me to a new Thai restaurant downtown, and then we went to a live concert. I didn't get home until midnight, so on Sunday I just stayed in bed and rested!"

Trip to Cartagena

Hi Lucas,
How are things going? I just got back from a four-day trip to Cartagena with my sister, and it was amazing! We flew there on Thursday morning and stayed at a small hotel in the historic center. It was a little more expensive than the hotels outside the wall, but the location was much better.
On Friday, we walked around the old city and bought some handmade gifts at a local market. The leather bags were gorgeous, so I bought a brown one for my mom and a smaller black one for me.
On Saturday, we took a boat to Baru Island. The water was warm and crystal clear, and we swam all afternoon.
Would you like to get together for coffee this Friday afternoon? I have lots of photos to show you! Let me know what time works best for you.
Best,
Camila
