Ahmed started feeling ill on Friday morning. He couldn't go to the mosque for Friday prayers. His father thought that he just wanted to stay at home and he was angry. But Ahmed was really ill.

By Friday evening, he had a temperature, a runny nose, a headache and a sore throat. All his bones were aching. His mother took him to a clinic. The doctor looked at Ahmed's throat and listened to his chest. She took his temperature and then she gave him some medicine to reduce the pain.

Ahmed and his mother went home. He got into bed and his mother gave him some of the medicine. It tasted horrible. Two days later, he had spots all over his body. He had chicken pox!
