The last outlaws

Alan a'Dale

Alice

Alan of Barnsdale, but people call him Alan a'Dale. He is a musician, He plays the lyre.
He is very unhappy because he loves a girl, Alice. She loves me too. But her father wants her to marry a rich old baron. In the wedding ceremony Robin's men stand up and point their bows and arrows at the guards. The guards do not move. The bishop runs out of the church.
Alan a'Dale runs to Alice and embraces her.
Friar Tuck marries the happy couple at Papplewick Church.
Then everyone returns to Sherwood Forest to enjoy the wedding banquet.
