Complete with there was or there were in the following text.

…….. a fox in the Toro Toro forest who was lonely because every prey he caught he could eat alone, one morning the fox came out of his den, …… a fresh air, …… butterflies flying around, …….. birds flying in the sky, everything was wonderful, but ……a problem, the fox was hungry, so he went in search of his breakfast, when he got to the river he saw a condor trying to take water, …… many options to catch his prey, but he went straight to the condor and told him:

- You are lucky to be my breakfast.

The condor, not at all surprised, said to him.

- I will be your breakfast if you beat me in a bet.

The fox was sure that he would win the bet and said:

- All right.

The bet was to sit in the frozen water of the river, whoever could sit there the longest was the winner.

The bet began, the fox put his tail on the ice and sat on it, while the condor spread his wings on the ice and sat on it, minutes passed and the condor was calm because his wings protected him from feeling the cold, while the fox was already freezing.

After a long time sitting on the ice, the condor asked the fox:

- fox, are you still alive?

The fox with his frozen body no longer answered, he had died of cold, and the condor won the bet and went free.
