The environmental damage in General Roca

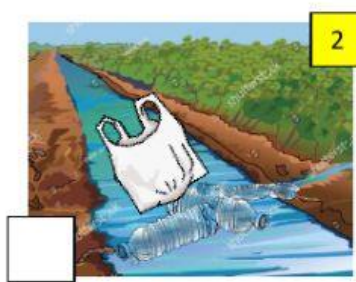

The Earth gives us water to drink, food to eat and air to breathe. But we don't appreciate this. In Argentina, people don't take care about the environment. For example, in General Roca, Rio Negro, people don't recycle. Rubbish, like glass, plastic, and food waste, is piled up in rubbish bins all around the city.

Citizens sometimes throw plastic on the streets, in the parks, and in the canal. In particular, plastics contaminate the water in the canal, and this pollutes the Earth in which we plant our trees and food. Also, in this city, a lot of people waste water when they shower. This is terrible because it can damage the Earth in the future.
