III. READING COMPREHENSION

BRITISH FOOD

Some nations are famous for their cooking. For example, in most French and Italian homes, meals are important part of family life. But in the UK, a lot of families do not eat together. Parents and children eat snacks in front of the TV, or prepare their own food in the microwave at different times.

However, some traditional dishes are still very popular in Britain – for example, fish and chips. There are more than 8 600 fish and chip shops in the UK and they serve about 300 milliom meals every year. Restaurants and pubs often serve "Sunday lunch": roast meat (beef, lamb, chicken, ect.) with roast potatoes and vegetables. And many British people sometimes eat a "full English breakfast" of bacon, eggs, sausages, tomatoes and toast.
