The new holiday resort and golf course has brought huge [Choose an answer] to the area. These include increased employment and a higher standard of living for many local people. There are [Choose an answer] disadvantages, too, of course. The landscape has been changed dramatically to make way for the resort. More importantly, it has also had a serious [Choose an answer] on local water supplies. The main [Choose an answer] is that the resort uses water from rivers. This is water that local farmers rely on to water their crops. In the long-term, this will have a [Choose an answer] effect on crop production and could result in food shortages. Nobody knows what the long-term [Choose an answer] on underground water supplies will be, but many are predicting these will be seriously depleted within five years.

The local government have promised to build a desalination plant to supply water. The [Choose an answer] advantage of the plant is that once it is built, it will be very cheap to run. The most significant [Choose an answer], critics say, is that it will be unattractive and will spoil even more of the landscape.
