Look at the following example and then, analyse the use of this verb Tense.

Present Perfect Tense

- We use the present perfect to talk about events that happened in the past but we don't know when.

  a. I've lost my phone. (he perdido mi teléfono) (= I lost it. I don't know exactly when) b. He's visited Turkey and Russia. (él ha visitado Turquía y Rusia) (= He visited both countries in the past. We don't know exactly when)

- We often use the present perfect when a past event has some connection to now.
  a. Someone has broken the chair. (alguien ha roto la silla) (= Here is the chair. We can see it is broken now. We don't know when it happened.)

  b. Sorry! I haven't found your purse. (Disculpa! No he encontrado tu cartera) (= I am still looking for it now)

- We don't use a finished time expression, like yesterday or last year with the present perfect, because it isn't important or we don't know when an event happened.
  Correct: I've read that book.
  Incorrect: ~~I've read that book last year~~

- We can, however, use unfinished time expressions, for example, ever, never, today, once, twice. Note that ever and never go before the past participle.

  a. I've never worked as a waiter.

  b. Have you ever sailed a boat?' 'No, I haven't.'

  c. He's seen that film twice.

  d. You've eaten a lot of chocolate today.

  e. This is the first time I've ever played chess.

- We can use gone to and been to in present perfect sentences. They have different meanings.

  a. She's gone to China. (= She went to China and she's still there now.)
  b. She's been to China. (= She went to China but she isn't there now.)
