Concluding Sentences- Matching Activity

Genetically modified foods are very dangerous to your health and the environment.

I have wonderful childhood memories of my mima's kitchen.

Whittling wood can be a fun activity for children to learn.

Indeed, with a little practice, most children can successfully whittle wood.

Clearly, genetically modified foods should be banned due to all of the health and environmental risks they pose.

I'll never forget those precious memories of my mima's kitchen.

Summertime is a great time to go camping.

Diabetes in children is directly linked to a diet with too much sugar and refined sugars.

Building a fort in the backyard can be fun and simple

Clearly, it's worth the little bit of effort needed to build a fun fort in the backyard.

In conclusion, too much sugar is bad for children's health.

As one can see, summer and camping go together like chocolate and marshmallows on graham crackers!

http://www.englishworksheetsland.com

LIVEWORKSHEETS