UNIT 5 : PRE -WRITING ACTIVITY (WRITING AN ACCOUNT OF A TRUE EVENT)

Fill in the blanks with the Strong Adjectives to replace the adjectives with 'very' in the brackets.

It was the third day of a _____(very nice) holiday. I was having on the island of Penang. The hotel was _____(very big) , which meant the swimming pool was crowded every day. I had learnt to get up early and save a sun lounger by leaving my towel on it. After that, I was usually _____(very hungry), so I enjoyed a _____(very tasty) breakfast in the hotel restaurant . Later, I'd go down to the pool and enjoy a swim.

But on that day, as I approached the sun lounger, I was _____(very surprised) to see my towel on the floor and a teenage boy on the lounger. I was _____(very angry) , so I picked up my _____(very dirty) towel , waved it at him and said, 'What's this?' He replied that it was a towel . I explained that it was my towel and he just smiled and said , 'Maybe the wind blew it off.' This boy was driving me up the wall! I shouted so that everyone could hear. 'It's very rude to steal someone's sun lounger, you know!' Then I turned around to leave. But as I turned, I slipped and fell into the pool!.

Everyone thought it was _____(very funny) , especially the boy on the sun lounger, I just wanted the ground to open up and swallow me!

enormous	filthy	marvellous	delicious
astonished	hilarious	furious	starving

* driving up the wall*(idiom) -to make someone extremely angry*
