There's a modern apartment in Wroclaw in Poland. On the one hand, it's a normal apartment in a city. There's a kitchen, a bathroom with a toilet and shower, a bedroom and a living room area. On the other hand, it's unusual. The total area of the apartment is only 13 square metres.

There's a problem with space in cities today, so micro apartments like this one are a good idea. Their design is often different, but one thing is always the same and that's their size. Micro apartments are very small. They're for one or two people.

To save space in this apartment, the double bed is above the kitchen and bathroom, but there aren't any stairs! There's a wardrobe for clothes and everyday items. Is there a place outside for the owner's bike? No, there isn't. That's why it's on a shelf on the wall. It's ingenious!
