Instructions: read the text, then, answer the following questions.

David is twenty-three years old. He lives in Munich, Germany and he doesn't like indoor activities much; he prefers outdoor sports and activities. Every Monday, he goes surfing at the beach with his uncles. He really enjoys spending time with them. On Tuesdays, David and his friends go to the mountains to practice mountain biking, then on Wednesdays, they go snorkeling at the beach again. David is an athlete and practices extreme sports and activities.

On Thursday afternoons, he goes fishing with his elder brother in the lake near their city. On Saturdays and Fridays, David stays at home. He doesn't go outside.

Right now he's planning a trip to the highest mountain to practice skiing and ice skating.

Making plans

Watch the video

Hello, it's Friday today and I'm thinking about what I'm going to do at the weekend, but because of the British weather it's really difficult to make plans. I'd like to go for a long walk in the country tomorrow, but what if it rains? I won't feel like going for a walk in the pouring rain, will I? So I'd better think of something else that I could do tomorrow if it rains. I don't know. Well, there's a good exhibition on at the Royal Academy, I could go there. In fact, that's a good idea, so if it's a nice day tomorrow I'll go for a long walk, but if it rains I'll go to the exhibition. So that's the day planned, but what about the evening? Well again that depends. If there's something good at the cinema, I'll go and see a film, but if there isn't, I think I'll stop at home and watch TV. What about you? Have you got any plans for the weekend?
