Section E. Reading Comprehension.
VI. Read the passage carefully. Then, answer the questions.

John was walking home from school when he suddenly heard someone yell, "Ouch!"

John turned around and saw a middle-aged lady lying on the pavement in pain. There were shopping bags around her and some of the food items in them were rolling out. John immediately went to the lady's rescue. He gathered all her things before he helped her up on her feet. However, the lady has sprained her ankle and could not walk.

John took out his mobile phone and called his mother. He quickly explained to his mother what had happened. Within ten minutes, John's mother arrived at the scene in her car. John and his mother helped the lady to get into the car. John then gathered her shopping bags and put them in the boot.

John and his mother drove the lady to a nearby clinic. They waited until the doctor had examined her and given her some medication for her sprained ankle. After that, John and his mother drove the lady to her house.

The lady, Mrs Wong, was very grateful to John and his mother for going out of their way to help her. She told John and his son that she was a widow and lived alone. She had a daughter and son but they were both busy with their own lives and seldom visited her. John felt sad for Mrs Wong and told her that he would visit once in a while to keep her company. Mrs Wong smiled and said she would like that very much.
