Complete with a conditional sentence of the first or the second type.

Lars and Tony are standing at the movie theatre waiting to get in to see Star Wars. Fortunately, he has the tickets, If he ……..(not have) the tickets , they would not be able to watch the movie .

There are so many people standing at the line that Lars wants to watch another movie. If they …… (not - watch) Claws II, they will be sorry. And if they wait, they …… (be) late for work. They really are in a predicament. If they ……. (not – work) on Saturdays afternoon , they ……(be able) to wait without any difficulty.

If I …… (be) Tony and Lars, I would watch Claws II

LIVEWORKSHEETS