Offering Help

Listening Section

1. What is the purpose of the conversation?
   a. To tell about the Man's project.
   b. To give explanation about the programming part.
   c. To offer help to the Man.
   d. To give information about his project first meeting.
2. Which part is the offering help in the conversation?
   a. I would love the help!
   b. Would you like me to help you on your new project?
   c. Do you like to work alone?
   d. Could you meet us at that time?
3. What is the woman do in the conversation?
   a. She asks for help.
   b. She needs a help.
   c. She refuses a help.
   d. She offers a help.
4. How do the man respond to the woman?
   a. He doesn't need any help.
   b. He refuses the offer of the help.
   c. He doesn't want to bother the woman.
   d. He accepts the offer of the help.
5. What could the woman help the man?
   a. She would help with the writing portion.
   b. She would help with the programming portion.
   c. She would help with the writing and programming portion.
   d. She would help with the collecting background information.
6. ... you like me to help you on your new project?
   a. Could
   b. Would
   c. May
   d. Will
7. Man: I would love the help!
   What is the correct interrogative sentence for the answer above?
   a. Would you prefer helping with the writing part or is programming more your thing?
   b. Do you like to work alone?
   c. Could you meet with us at that time?
   d. Would you like me to help you on your new project?
8. Would you like me to help you on your new project?
   The underlined word above refer to ...
   a. The woman
   b. The man
   c. The project
   d. The audience
9. Would you like me to help you on your new project?
   a. The woman
   b. The man
   c. The project
   d. The audience
10. Would you like me to ... you on your new project?
    a. Help
    b. Helps
    c. Helped
    d. Helping

LIVEWORKSHEETS