Read the passage.

Malaysia is separated into two sections by the South China Sea; Peninsula Malaysia links with Thailand on the mainland of Asia, while East Malaysia comprises the states of Sabah and Sarawak.

Visitors must not miss Kuala Lumpur or KL, the capital, with its many sights to keep the tourist occupied, as well as its excellent shopping facilities.

Second to KL in size are the historic trading cities of Melaka and Penang, with buildings dating back hundreds of years and wonderful unspoilt districts where visitors can breathe in the romance of the past.

Malaysia is famous for its pleasant beach resorts, Langkawi, Pangkor, Tioman Island, Damai Beach in Sarawak, and, again, Penang, Each of these offers water-sports of all kinds as well as snorkeling and scuba diving around the numerous coral reefs that line Malaysia's shore.

(A) Write the correct word or words to complete each sentence.

(1) The South China Sea divides Malaysia into _____.

(2) Thailand is _____ with Peninsula Malaysia.

(3) Sabah and Sarawak are _____ in East Malaysia.

(4) There are many sights in KL to _____ tourists.

(5) Malaysia's shores are lined with numerous _____.

(B) Answer each question in one sentence.

(6) Why should visitors go to Kuala Lumpur?

_____.

(7) What kinds of cities are Melaka and Penang?

_____.

(8) What kind of buildings can be found in Melaka and Penang?

_____.

(9) Where can visitors breathe in the romance of the past?

_____.

(10) What can one enjoy at the beach resorts?

_____.