Peru is a very old country. The earliest inhabitants arrived there about 15,000 years ago.One of the most important Peruvian cultures was the Inca, who lived in Peru around 600 years ago.

Peru is a country in Southamerica. it isthe third biggest country in South America. Peru is a constitutional republic, with a president.

It is made up of a variety of landscapes, from mountains and beaches to deserts and rain forests. Most people live on the coast of the Pacific Ocean, where the capital, Lima, is located.

The population of Peru is 33.050.325 people.

The people of Peru are a mix of many different cultures, including Indians, Spaniards and other Europeans, descendants of African slaves, and Asians.

That is the reason that Spanish is the official language in Peru but Quechua is also official.

Because it has so many different ecosystems, Peru is home to a variety of plants and animals than most other countries on Earth. Llamas, alpacas, and vicuñas.

The world's largest rain forest of Peru is the Amazon. Peruvian Andes are really important for Peruvian people.

The Amazon River is the largest in Peru.

There are important places to visit in Peru, Machu Pichu, Nazca Desert, Iquitos, Trujillo, Lima...

Peruvian food is very tasty. It has been described as one of the world's most important cuisines.. My favourite dish from Peru is Causa Limeña. It is very fresh, delicious and very easy to make. Ceviche, Anticucho, Cuy are others traditional dishes form Peru. If you want to try them in Peru, you need Nuevo Sol, it is the offical currency/money in Peru.

Now, that you know lots of things about Peru, Do you want to visit the country?

OFFICIAL NAME :

CAPITAL CITY:

POPULATION :

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES:

MONEY :

MAJOR RIVERS:

MAJOR ANIMALS:

IMPORTANT PLACES:

TRADITIONAL FOOD: